White label vs. White label pro

Choose your level of customization

White label

With many years of experience in the IoT industry, we know that no two IoT solutions are the same. To meet the exact needs of your company, we offer a wide range of white label IoT products.

You can customize both the design and packaging of the products in numerous ways. This way, your brand is easily added to the products. The MOQ for customized design and packaging is 3,000 units.

To customize the design and packaging, we provide you with a set of templates. When the design process is finished, you send us production-ready files, and you will have your products, ready for deployment.

White label pro

For high-volume solutions (MOQ 10 000), you are additionally able to customize firmware and features of the products. Contact us to find out what you can customize.

Design

Add your brand to the products

Squid.link gateway appearance

The Squid.link gateway comes with a top label. The label can be customized with your brand color and logo. This means that the appearance of the gateway can be tailored to fit your business seamlessly.

Product labels

On each of the products, a label is added. Your logo is easily included in the area marked by the gray box. The model number, marked by the orange arrow, can be modified to fit your company. You can also add your company address to the product labels.

Box label

On the packaging of the products, a box label is added. Your logo and address can be included in the area marked by the gray box. The part number, marked by the upper orange arrow, and the model number, marked by the lower orange arrow, can be customized. In addition to the box label, you can add an EAN label on the box.

Packaging

Wrap your brand around the products

Sleeves and inner boxes

The individual packaging of the products includes a sleeve and a white inner box. The sleeves can be customized with your design. The material of the sleeves is white paper with matt coating.

Starter kit boxes

Our Starter kit provides you with a range of products and multiple possibilities, including customizing the design of the box. Your logo, slogans, and brand colors are easily printed on the box. The box comes with matt coating and magnet closure. Inside the box are foam and a white paper box for the power supply and installation manuals.

Manuals

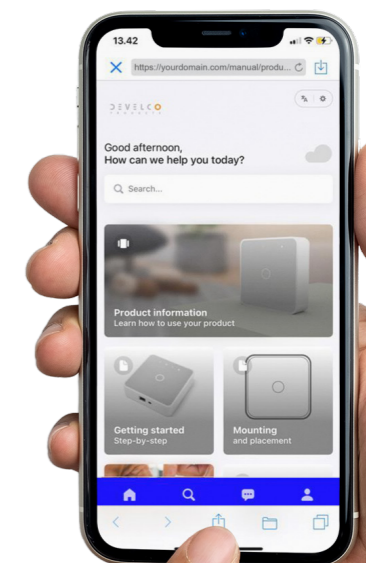

Online and interactive or printed

Installation manuals

With each product an installation manual follows. You can choose to offer digital, interactive manuals that your customers can easily access online with a link or QR code placed on the product packaging, for instance.

This solution gives you an easy way to create media rich manuals available online while collecting insights into your customers' manual usage and reducing maintenance for you. Simply create and edit your manuals through our online manual platform and when published, your customer will always have the newest information at hand.

When creating your interactive manuals, you are provided with a copy of our manuals to use as inspiration for text and graphics. Contact us to learn more about the possibilities and benefits of the interactive manuals.
